

[illegible]

5 Synchronization is quickly established by continuing to apply a synchronization technique even while the devices are synchronized, as opposed to starting the synchronization technique only after synchronization is lost.